“This industry demands that multiple vendors share things and that ability is built in part upon open source software.”
— ROB BREDO, ILM

“We’re now at a place where larger and more complex problems can be solved and we can be more ambitious.”
— ROB BREDO, ILM

“We rely on member organizations to keep the lights on and grow the foundation, but there is no barrier at all to contributing.”
— KIMBALL THURSTON, WETA DIGITAL

“We feel like the film industry has evolved a nice healthy ecosystem. It’s not the wild wild west anymore.”
— STEVE MAY, PIXAR

“I feel like the film industry has evolved a nice healthy ecosystem. It’s not the wild wild west anymore.”
— STEVE MAY, PIXAR

“Many of the individual projects are not the groundbreaking part; they are the foundation for the groundbreaking part.”
— ERIC BOURQUE, AUTODESK

“I feel like the film industry has evolved a nice healthy ecosystem. It’s not the wild wild west anymore.”
— STEVE MAY, PIXAR

“I hope we can build the ‘Legos’ that people can use to construct this unique next thing.”
— KIMBALL THURSTON, WETA DIGITAL

“If I had to pay a company for every instance of an OpenEXR reader we had, my costs would spiral out of control.”
— ANDREW PEARCE, DREAMWORKS

“Many of the individual projects are not the groundbreaking part; they are the foundation for the groundbreaking part.”
— ERIC BOURQUE, AUTODESK

“If I had to pay a company for every instance of an OpenEXR reader we had, my costs would spiral out of control.”
— ANDREW PEARCE, DREAMWORKS

“Let’s embrace what is going to be commoditized in five years’ time and move forward.”
— NICK CANNON, DISNEY ANIMATION

“You feel a sense of community and responsibility to shepherd this work and make it the best it can be.”
— CAROL PAYNE, NETFLIX

“When we have multiple people with varied backgrounds and opinions, we get better software.”
— RACHEL ROSE, ILM

“Copyright © 2022 The Linux Foundation | March 2022
This report is licensed under the Creative Commons Attribution-NoDerivatives 4.0 International Public License